Through the effort of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church Historical Society, headed by Calvin A. McMahan, the original baptismal register of the early German Union Church in Boardman Township, long thought lost, has been rediscovered. It is the treasured possession of the Bethlehem United Church of Christ, which was originally the Reformed congregation of the Bethlehem Lutheran and Reformed Church founded in 1816.

The Reverend Robert F. Kobele, minister of this Brownlee Woods church, graciously loaned this and other early records to the historical society at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church to use in the preparation of their bicentennial newspaper.

As one who had long dreamed of finding the old baptism book of this church – known in its early days as the Simon Church – and who had nearly abandoned hope, I am grateful for the opportunity to translate these records.

INTRODUCTION

The “Old Pleasant Grove Section” of Lake Park Cemetery in Boardman Township was originally the church site and burying ground for the Bethlehem German Lutheran and Reformed Church, known familiarly as Simon’s Church.

The northeast corner of Boardman Township was settled in 1800 by Michael Simon and his large family of married sons and daughters – Pennsylvania German pioneers from Washington County, Pennsylvania. During the first decade the settlers were dependent on the services of visiting ministers from Pennsylvania, and “church” was held in the cabins of the faithful. Pastor Johann Stauch was the earliest Lutheran minister to visit in the Trumbull and Columbiana areas, under the traveling missionary system established by the Ministerium of Pennsylvania in 1806, and his visits were the occasion for many early marriages and baptisms. Courthouse records show his name on marriage certificates as early as 1807.

By 1812 the Pennsylvania German population in Boardman Township was flourishing and organization papers were drawn up about this time for a union Lutheran and Reformed church. The first log church was built about 1816 on 1.36 acres of land which Michael Simon and his wife Charity deeded for “one dollar and good will” to the trustees of the German Lutherans and German Presbyterians on December 9, 1816. Reference is made in the deed to “a meeting house now erected,” although it was not completely finished at that time. Two subscription lists dated April 16 and December 30 of that year were signed by those members who were willing to contribute either money or labor to complete the floor, the windows, and (if the money would stretch that far) the upper arch. These lists are probably a fairly complete roster of the first church members. Apparently they were already holding services in the unfinished church the previous fall since, on September 3, 1815, the Reverend Henry Huet wrote in his personal record book: “Communion held in Simon’s Church. Thirty-six communicants.”

The Reverend Huet was the first Lutheran minister to serve the church regularly. The first Reformed (German Presbyterian) preacher was the Reverend John Peter Mahnenschmidt. Reverend Mahnenschmidt appears on court house marriage records as early as 1814 and Reverend Huet by 1816, so both had settled in the area by then. The 1820 Ohio Census shows Mahnenschmidt living in nearby Springfield Township (in what was then Columbiana County) and Huet in Boardman Township (in what was then Trumbull County.)

Union churches were typical of early German churches in America, particularly in Pennsylvania, Maryland, western Virginia, and eastern Ohio. On the frontier there were seldom enough settlers of one faith to support a church, and the Lutheran and Reformed adherents were close enough in doctrine to share a church amicably. The two congregations owned the building in common and ministers served alternately, but most of the members went impartially to every service. An early diary (1825-1830) kept by David Simon makes this clear when he occasionally reports on a particular Sunday, “Communion was served on both the Lutheran and Reformed sides.” Both ministers served a number of churches in the area, so church was not held every Sunday in each church. An analysis of David Simon’s journal entries shows each minister preaching at Bethlehem about once a month – with many lapses and irregularities, particularly during the winter months. Either minister might be called on for a baptism, a marriage, or a burial, and the members intermarried freely. In fact, in 1828 Reverend Huet’s daughter Esther married

Reverend Mahnenschmidt's son George. Confirmation, however was confined to the Lutheran congregation and David frequently mentions going to confirmation class at "Uncle" Henry Huet's house. (Huet's wife Esther was a daughter of Michael Simon and a sister of David's father Jacob.)

The first church building was built of logs cut from the surrounding forests and was fashioned on the usual pattern of German churches on the frontier. "The interior of the building was decorated with fairly elaborate pictures; not of saints, but of highly colored flowers, such as lilies, tulips, etc. The pulpit was in the form of a small 'coop,' up high, with a stairway leading up to it."¹

The first burials in the churchyard coincided with the building of the church. Earlier burials among the congregation had been made on the northeast corner of Adam Simon's farm, down the road from the church site, the earliest being in March 1801 when Adam's young wife died in childbirth. These stones were moved to the churchyard some years ago. Henry Dustman is said to have been the first burial at the church. His old German stone has been replaced by a fine granite monument, but the original stone stated that he died on the 18th of August 1816, leaving behind a widow and ten children. In David's diary, penned some ten years later, Henry's wife Elizabeth Frank Dustman is still unfailingly referred to as "the Widow Dustman."

In 1845 the log church was replaced by a frame building, thirty-four by thirty-eight feet, with an inclined floor and two entrance doors. This building was remodeled in 1880 and remained in use as a union church until 1904 when the Lutherans built a new church about a mile west of the intersection of South Avenue and Midlothian Boulevard – known officially as the Bethlehem Evangelical Lutheran Church. This charming little white church with a bell steeple served the congregation for some sixty years before it was replaced by an attractive brick church just across the road.

The Reformed part of the congregation continued to worship in the old union church for some years and, in 1916, became the Bethlehem Third Reformed Church. The following year the Bungalow Chapel was built on Midlothian Boulevard a few blocks east of the cemetery. The beautiful Gothic church in which the congregation still worships was built in 1925; and in 1958 the official name was changed to the Bethlehem United Church of Christ.²

Subscription Lists

In 1816 two subscription lists were circulated among the members of the new church asking for help to complete the log building. These lists, written and signed in German script, were found about ten years ago among the papers in a crude wooden box in the possession of a Simon descendant. Roughly chiseled on the sides of the box is the name Michael Simon, along with some Bible verses and scriptural interpretation and admonition.

The lists are translated here with the names transcribed in the original spellings. If it varies significantly the English form is given in brackets.

Baptismal Register 1816-1858

Although there is no title page in this old ledger-type book with its handmade paper and hand-cut pages, there is no doubt that this is the early baptism record for the Bethlehem Lutheran and Reformed Church (or Simon Church) in Boardman Township. Now a prized possession of the Bethlehem United Church of Christ, it was fortunately preserved by the Reformed congregation who were the last to abandon the old union building. The Simons and intermarried families are heavily represented in its pages and the parents of the baptized church are almost exclusively people who, according to the census and land records of this period, were living in the northeast corner of the township—or just over the lines in Youngstown, Poland, and Coitsville Townships. And the names of the fathers for the earliest baptisms are the same names which appear on the 1816 subscription lists above.

There are forty-nine inscribed pages in the book, all in the old German script, covering a period from 1816-1858—with a few earlier baptisms entered on the first two pages. This suggests that the record book was begun in 1816 at the time the church was being built and that any baptisms that could be recalled from the years prior to this formal organization of the church were entered at this time. This surmise is supported by two facts: the baptisms before 1816 are not in chronological order; and for some there is no date of baptism, only a date of birth. The earliest baptism for which a date is given is September 11, 1808; the earliest birthdate is November 28, 1803.

On pages 17 to 37, following a baptism in February 1838, there is a recapitulation of the preceding baptisms—arranged into family groups. There is no question in the mind of this translator that this is recorded in the familiar script of David Simon, grandson of the Michael Simon who gave the land for the church. David was at this time the school teacher of Boardman School District No. 3, a German-English school held at the beginning in the log church. His school records, also kept in the German script, list as pupils many of the same children whose baptisms appear in the church record. For some of the pupils he recorded exact dates of birth in the school records, dates which came very likely from the baptismal records.

David Simon (1811-1870) as his diaries and school records attest, had an orderly mind and was extremely conscious of the value of records to future generations. He often recopied his personal records and the records of others in his beautiful script—in either German or English. The pages of this baptism record are difficult to decipher, and it is easy to imagine David's decision in 1838 to rearrange the baptisms by families and record them in the church book. Perhaps he was asked to do so, just as he was frequently asked to record the family records of his relatives and neighbors in the pages of their Bibles. In his rearrangement of the baptisms he included some baptisms which do not appear in the original chronological record. It is interesting that David's own baptism on October 21, 1811, is entered on page two of the record by the Reverend Johann Stauch, a friend of his parents and a former neighbor of his mother in Monongalia County, Virginia.

After the twenty pages of rearranged baptisms the recording of the baptisms continues chronologically again, covering the years 1838 to 1846. Then David's handwriting appears again and continues to the final thirteen entries in 1856 to 1858. The first entries by David in the late 1840s are not chronological. They begin with retrospective entries for his own children and for others and then, in October 1848, begin chronologically again. A valid supposition is that the record had been allowed to lapse in the early forties and that, about 1848, he updated it as much as possible and then continued to make entries as the baptism occurred. This, incidentally, was the same year in which dates of birth began to appear in his school records.

In April 1853 David ended his twenty-year teaching career and moved with his wife Susanna and their children to Canfield, then the county seat, where he was clerk to the County Auditor and later served as Auditor himself from 1863 to 1867. His diary shows that during those years in Canfield he often walked to Boardman on Sunday morning, sometimes with his older children Florentine and Clara Lucretia, to attend the church service, which was held in the afternoon. At these times he probably made the last half-dozen entries for 1853 to 1856—all for relatives.

The record for these final years is sporadic, and there are other obvious lapses throughout the forty-two years of baptisms. It should be kept in mind that even during years for which the records appear fairly complete, there are omissions. Infants were often baptized at home and by the time the minister visited the church again he often forgot to make the entry in the baptismal register. Some of these omissions were rectified by David Simon in the rearrangements by family, so some baptisms appear only in his part of the record. A case in point is his own youngest brother Jesse whose baptism in March 1830 does not appear in the chronological record. That he was baptized at home is evident from David's diary entry for Tuesday, March 16, 1830: "Mor. war Pfar. H. Huet hier und taufte unser kleines Brüderlein; es erhielt den Namen Jesse." (In the morning Pastor H. Hewitt was here and baptized our little brother; he was named Jesse.)

Ministers

A somewhat unusual feature of this baptismal register is that, except for the first page, each entry has the name of the minister officiating at the baptism. The variation in handwriting and in spelling suggests that the baptisms were usually recorded by the ministers themselves. The Reverend Johann Stauch (John Stough), the first Lutheran minister to visit this area regularly, officiated at the first two baptisms on the second page (undated) and probably at those on the first page, as well.

Essentially, however, these are the joint records of the Lutheran pastor Henrich Huet (Henry Hewitt) and the Reformed preacher Johann Peter Mahnenschmidt (John Peter Monasmith). The earliest baptism in the record by Hewitt is March 23, 1815—the day before he purchased his land in Boardman Township.³ The earliest baptism by Mahnenschmidt is October 3, 1813. It is of interest that each minister baptized children of either faith, and a family often had some infants baptized by the Lutheran Hewitt and others by the Reformed Mahnenschmidt, depending upon who was available. The ministers each served a circuit of eight or ten churches in the area of Trumbull and Columbiana Counties,⁴ and they were rarely able to visit a congregation more often than once every month or two.

After the formal organization of the church in 1816 all the baptisms for the next twenty-seven years were performed by the Reverends Hewitt or Mahnenschmidt—with two exceptions. In 1818 and 1820 Reverend Stauch baptized two of the children of his Lutheran colleague Henry Hewitt. And during the period from 1831 to 1834 the Reverend Henry Sonnedecker, Reformed minister from Springfield Township, officiated at eight baptisms.

Six other ministers appear briefly in the records after 1843. Chronologically they are:

Ministers	No. of Baptisms	Dates	Place from
Rev. H. Hess	2	1844
Rev. Nathan Palzgraf	3	1846, 1848	Lordstown Twp., Trumbull Co.
Rev. Friedrich C. Becker	1	1848	Jackson Twp.
Rev. John G. Ellinger	4	1851-52	Springfield Twp.
Rev. Samuel Bächler	3	1852-54	Beaver Twp.
Rev. Joshua Crouse	5	1856	Bucyrus
Rev. Gottlieb Kranz	7	1856-58	Beaver Twp.

John G. Ellinger of the Old Springfield charge served the congregation briefly during Reverend Hewitt's last years. He later organized the Zion Lutheran Church in New Middletown and the Lutheran church in New Springfield. Reverend Bächler preached occasionally after Reverend Hewitt and later served this church and one in Girard from 1874 to 1877. Reverend Becker occasionally came as a supply minister from the Jackson-Lordstown area.

Reverend Kranz of the North Lima charge in Beaver Township served the Bethlehem Church from 1856 to 1861 and in 1859 organized the Martin Luther Church in Youngstown. In his journal David Simon says, on October 5, 1856, "Reverend Gottlieb Kranz from Mercer County, Pennsylvania, preached at Boardman in the evening." And on April 17 of the following year he wrote: "Florentine M. came home today. He had gone this week with George Simon to Mercer Co. PA., to help a Lutheran preacher named Gottlieb Kranz and his family move to North Lima, Mahoning County."

The five baptisms by Rev. Crouse were all performed on the same day—Monday, September 29, 1856. David wrote on the previous day, "Rev. Joshua Crouse from Bucyrus preached in English."

Henry Hewitt and John Peter Mahnenschmidt, the two ministers who served this church so long and faithfully, died in the 1850s—within three years of each other. Reverend Hewitt is buried in Lake Park Cemetery just north of the site of the old log church. Reverend Mahnenschmidt is buried in Berlin Township at the old Dutch Cemetery. The deaths of these pioneer ministers were duly noted in David Simon's diaries. In translation the entries read:

17 Feb. 1855 Yesterday evening around 6 o'clock the Reverend Uncle Henry Huet exchanged this earthly life for the eternal and entered unto the joy of his Lord. Three weeks ago he was seized with apoplexy. He brought his life to 83 years and 2 days; was born near Hagerstown, Maryland, February 14, 1772; entered into marriage with Esther Simon in 1793, lived with her 62 years and had 14 children. He served as an Evangelical Lutheran pastor for 38 years.

⁴ Mahoning County was formed from these two counties in 1846.

- 19 Feb. 1855 In the morning I went with the William Schollenbergers to Boardman in a sleigh and attended the funeral of Uncle H. Huet. There were four preachers present, namely, Mahnenschmidt, Sigeli, Bächler, and Engelbach. The procession consisted of forty-five sleighs and sleds and two buggies. Rev. S. Bächler gave the first funeral oration over Hebrews 13:7. "Remember your leaders, etc." and made three points:
1. Do not forget your leaders.
 2. Be in awe of your end.
 3. Follow your beliefs.
- Then Rev. Sigeli gave a sermon over II Timothy 4:7,8. "I have fought the good fight, etc."
- After church I went to Father's for a while and then to Uncle Henry Hewitt's.
- 4 July 1857 Visited Rev. J. P. Mahnenschmidt for whom death seems to be near. It looks as if he could scarcely live through the night.
- 13 July 1857 This morning around 3 o'clock the Reverend Johann Peter Mahnenschmidt exchanged this life for the eternal and entered into the joy of his Lord. He brought his life to [left blank]. He was ill about ten weeks.
- 14 July 1857 My wife and I went to town [Canfield] to the Presbyterian Church where Rev. William G. March held the funeral service for Reverend Mahnenschmidt over Phil. [left blank]. Then the body was taken to Berlin Township for another service and buried there.

USING THE RECORDS AND INDEX

COLUMNS: The format is:

- | | | |
|--------------|--------------|-----------------------------------|
| (1) Parents | (2) Child | (3) Dates of birth and/or baptism |
| (4) Sponsors | (5) Minister | |

NAMES are spelled exactly as they appear in the German script. For anglicized versions, when known, consult the Index for see references.

UNDERLINED names or letters. Underlining is used, instead of the cumbersome [sic] to indicate that obvious errors and misspellings really do appear that way in the original.

INDEX is to all names in the records and introduction with the exception of the ministers in the baptism entries.

SURNAME VARIATION: To facilitate use of the index all variations of the same surname are grouped under the most commonly used form with see references from the variation when necessary.

CHRISTIAN NAMES have been indexed exactly as they appear in the record, so several spellings or forms of the name may appear in the index for the same person; i.e., M. Ana and Maria Anna. The ministers were particularly careless about putting a dash over the “ñ” to indicate the doubled consonant, so there are many Johanes, Ana, and Susana spellings. There are also many variants for such names as Elisabeth, Margaret and Catharine.

The next twenty pages of the register (pp. 17-37) are in the handwriting of David Simon. These are the same baptisms that appear on the first sixteen pages, rearranged into family units and, in some cases, changed or amplified, so a baptism should be checked in both places. (See introduction for a fuller explanation.)

The next two entries, by Rev. H. Hess, are considerably garbled. Under Names of children are: Johannes Frankeln and Lusian. Under Parents are the dates 20 Oct. 1843 and 26 Oct. 1844; under Sponsors: Rebec Schmidt? and something which could read "d. Eltern Tote" [the parents dead?] Under baptismal date both lines read "Bapt. 5 Oct. 1844," which is not possible for Lusian if born 26 Oct. 1844.

From this point on the entries are again in the handwriting of David Simon. He evidently made an effort to update the entries for the 1840s and, from 1848 to 1855, tried to keep the book current. Obviously many baptisms are missing for these years.
