President's Comments

We have had a great year. We had 25-30 members attending the meetings and have enjoyed the speakers that Vice-President Tim Seman worked hard to get to our chapter meetings.

Lou Joseph has worked very hard to keep our chapter "in the black". He has done this by having our chapter newsletter e-mailed to members and this has helped us to save money. You can get your newsletter by e-mail by contacting Lou at the chapter's e-mail address and stating that you want your newsletter by e-mail. Lou has also done an outstanding job on the chapter's website.

All of our officers – Recording Secretary: Carol Check; Corresponding Secretary: Janet Griffin and Historian: Sue Bell has done an outstanding job. When you see them please thank them for their great work in the past year.

There have been a lot of members that have done a great job and I hope I don't miss anyone. If I do I apologize: Library Volunteer – Judy Williams; Courthouse Volunteers – Georgene Fry, Peggy Wade, Mary Weese, Pat Grimm; Peggy Wade – Chapter Librarian – Peggy Wade; Newsletter Mailing – Eva Doyle, Tom Flynn, Judy Williams, Georgene Fry; Education & 4H Judge – Barbara Morey; Computer Interest – Gary Confoey & Ron Garchar; Cemetery Recording & Website – Louis Joseph; Membership & Publications Mailings – Sally Joseph; Research – Georgene & Keith Fry; Fed. of Gen. Soc. Delegate – Ron Garchar; Hospitality & Pioneer Families – Georgene Fry; First Families of Ohio – Barbara Morey; Michael Heher – Church Liaison. Barb Smith – Youngstown Library Liaison and Computer Interest Group – Gary Confoey and Ron Garchar.

The Chapter lost one of its founding members – Jocelyn Wilms. Jocelyn was a great friend and will be missed.

Books on Line

Submitted by Nancy Tidrick

I just attended the Manatee County's genealogical society meeting this morning. I have some great information to share. The lecture was on new internet resources that can be used in genealogical research.

I had no idea that there were thousands of books scanned from hundreds of libraries available online and for free. The two major sites for free books were Google Books (www.books.google.com) and Internet Archive (www.Archive.org). After entering these sites you can search for genealogical information using their search engines and then download the materials to your own computer.

There is also a site called Genealogy Bank.com (www.genealogybank.com) that is just getting off the ground. It is a fee based site and costs $69.00 per year. Again you can download all materials into your own computer. The Genealogy Bank site has books, census records, vital records, parish records, some probates, online newspapers, and online government reports and is much cheaper than ancestry. Also all information is downloadable into your own computer.

Also, we discussed the major changes going on with Family Search.Org. Family Search's whole system is being completely revamped. It will be much more interactive and will also serve as a place to archive your own research.

It may be worth your while to see if a representative from a Local Family History Library would be willing to come and do a presentation for the club. I found it amazing. At present the new system is not available to the general public with the exception of a few test sites. However, they are hoping to be ready to go sometime in 2010.

Lost Census

Q. What happened to the 1890 US census?

A. The 1890 census is a sore subject for genealogists: It sparks bad dreams, anguished "if only"s and anxieties over brick walls. Why? More than 99 percent of the records were destroyed Jan. 10, 1921, during a fire in the basement of the Commerce Building in Washington, DC.

When the fire broke out, firefighters flooded the basement with water. The flames didn't spread to upper floors, but the 1890 census records—piled outside a storage vault—were soaked. (Even some of the census schedules stored inside the supposedly waterproof vault got wet.) The cause of the blaze couldn't be determined.

The records sat in storage for a while, and no restoration efforts were made. Rumors circulated that they'd be disposed of; various groups protesting such measures were assured the rumors were unfounded. But sometime between 1933 and 1935, the records were destroyed along with other papers the Census Bureau deemed no longer necessary.

Fragments of the 1890 census bearing 6,160 names later turned up; they're on microfilm and Web sites such as Ancestry.com <ancestry.com>.

Also surviving are special schedules of Union veterans and their widows for half of Kentucky and states alphabetically following it (see page 27 for more on using these records).

In a precursor to the 1921 tragedy, an 1896 fire damaged 1890 supplemental schedules of mortality, crime, pauperism and "special classes." They were later destroyed by order of the Interior Department. For help filling the holes left in your tree by the 1890 census, see <www.familytreemagazine.com/article/reconstructing-the-1890-census>.

Poem from Family History Society AZ Newsletter

Submitted by Roseanne Hein

It was the first day of census, and all through the land;
The pollster was ready...a black book in hand.
He mounted his horse for a long dusty ride;
His book and some quills were tucked close by his side.
A long winding ride down a road barely there;
Toward the smell of fresh bread wafting up through the air.

The woman was tired, with lines on her face;
And wisps of brown hair she tucked back into place.
She gave him some water...as they sat at the table;
And she answered his questions...the best she was able.

He asked of her children...Yes, she had quite a few;
The oldest was twenty, the youngest was not two.
She held up a toddler with cheeks round and red;
His sister, she whispered, was napping in bed.
She noted each person who lived there with pride;
And she felt the faint stirrings of the wee one inside.
He noted the sex, the color, the age....

The marks from the quill soon filled up the page.
At the number of children, she nodded her head;
And saw her lips quiver for the three that were dead.
The places of birth she "never forgot";
Was it Kansas? Or Utah? Or Oregon... or not?
They came from Scotland, of that she was clear;
But she wasn't quite sure just how long they'd been here.

They spoke of employment, of schooling and such;
They could read some and write some... though really not much.

When the questions were answered, his job there was done;

So he mounted the horse and he rode toward the sun.

We can imagine his voice loud and clear;
"May God bless you all for another ten years."
Now picture a time warp...its now you and me;
As we search for the people on our family tree.
We squint at the census and scroll down so slow;
As we search for that entry from long, long ago.

Could they only imagine on that long ago day;
That the entries they made would effect us this way?
If they knew, would they wonder at the yearning we feel;
and the searching that makes them so increasingly real.

We can hear if we listen the words they impart;
Through their blood in our veins and their voice in our heart.

JOYCE WHITNEY HUGHES

My mother, Joyce Whitney Hughes, passed away this morning at around 10:30. Though we knew that her recent heart problems were serious, and she was facing surgery for it, it was nevertheless somewhat unexpected. I had spoken to her yesterday and she seemed to be gaining strength, but today her heart simply stopped and she died without regaining consciousness. Mother was 79 years old. As she knew that her health was failing she wanted to be remembered to all of you, her friends and family.

She was predeceased by her husband, James Aiken Hughes. She was the mother of Jim [Lillian], and Jon [Wendy]; proud grandmother of Andrew [Tamara], Aletha [Sylvain Pineau], Jotham [Christina, fiancé], Timothy, Ryan [Claudia, fiancé] and Jennifer; and great-grandmother of Elizabeth, Noah and Jacob.

Friends will be received at the "Scarborough Chapel" of McDougall & Brown Funeral Home, 2900 Kingston Road, Toronto, Ontario on Saturday, April 18, 2009 from 10:00-11:00 a.m. A service will follow in the chapel at 11:00 a.m. Interment will be held at 1:00 p.m. on Monday, April 20, 2009 at the Southfield Reformed Presbyterian Church Cemetery, 26550 Evergreen Rd., Southfield, Michigan 48076. In lieu of flowers, donations in memory of mother may be made to the Pregnancy Care Centre, 638A Sheppard Ave. W., North York, Ontario, M3H 2S1.

Query – #1

JOHN THORNTON

John Thornton was recognized as a pioneer settler in Mahoning County as named as such in 2003, in a certificate presented to me. Information I have states he was born in Pennsylvania in 1728, served in the Revolutionary war, and died Oct. 4, 1816 in Mahoning County, OH. One notation said he is buried in "the old cemetery." I would like to locate his grave and provide a proper marker to show his military service. I have visited most of the cemeteries in the Poland-Boardman area with no success. If anyone knows which is "the old cemetery," its location and who is responsible for its care, please let me know!
